The Emperor and Helgism. Of course the Emperor of hat French. like the root of the world, is well awarts of the prediction which have been so frequently mide with regerto the prospects of Balvium after the death at King Leopold, and he bas done everything that lav in his power to tranquilline the nublic mind of Furing on the subject. For ourselves, we are disposed to believe that the Emperor of the P-ouch is perfectly sincree in these declarations We helieve that a practical experience of peace and wer has greatly strongthened in the mind of this remarkable Sovereign the speculative pro forence which every reasonable man must have Ca- the former. We believe that five vours o' P. o Tenda have made an iron repaire on the mind of the Emperor which no more abstract organical could produce. As a man of the present ago, we Foot sura that he estimates at their dae valative value the advantages of the extension of deminion as compared with the extension of wealth e mmerce, and industry. Byers vede makes more manifest that States are prosperous and respectable not in respontion to their area or their nongistion but to the facilities of their axternal and internal communication, the means of association between their citizens, the somelness of their accum-lation of wealth. Whatever the Nanoleon of 1853 might have thought; we believe turned saids from the internal development the prosperity of Frence, by prospects even more 1.-Hight than are afforded by the demine of the Bolgian Crown .- Times. Custom Duties of New South Wales. That eccentric writer appears to be in a towering passion not only against Governor Fire of Jamalet but against the late Leopold a Belgium, whom he holds up to the score of Frenchmen as a mere tool of England, and rersonally a rather mediacre personnge. ... Un is sick of the applau to lavighed on " Aristides the Just, and flinge his nyster shell at the coffin yet unburied. It was a crime in the young soldier to have championed the cause of m pland against brite force in the parion of the Brot Napilem. A Saxe-Cobourge had no right to cut down invaders at Latten. a Houtzen, at Leipnic, or pursue the fugitives to 21 and 25, with Office, Comprador and Ser-Brienne, Arcia sur Aube, Lafore, He next was a weetched pennyless lodger, on a second floor in Wigh street, Marylebone, now, a green grocery. Such is the actio taste displayed in this retrospect of Langeld's life by one who had been bimself, perhape, in not very flourishing finance, and whose model men are the denizons of a garrest or a celler. There is mischief however, at the close. The drift of his fetter in adverse to the continuance of a free Helgiam, and he coverily advocates aunexation of the country, in virtue of la systeme des compensalins .- Paris letter in the " Globe."
